

Some of the differences I could see on the Home Page were that the text decoration for the h1, which was set to dotted, were squares closer together in Safari and circles in Chrome. Also, even though I set a max-width for the paragraphs, each browser seems to have its own slightly different cutoff which adds an extra line in Safari.